This work is done with the consent and cooperation of the parents.

FOUND SOUTH SEAS NO DOMESTIC IDYL

Prospective English Countess Kept Early Hours.

London.—Housekeeping in the South Sea Islands requires a great deal of bustling and energy, says Lady Hastings, who has just returned from the island of Moreo, where she went two years ago as a bride. The day begins at six o'clock, with breakfast at seven.

She is the daughter of an Italian marquis, and when she settled down in her new home she had never been in a kitchen more than a few moments at a time. Her husband, heir to the earl of Huntington, ran a plantation there.

"Our coral house in the South seas sounds so idyllic that it might be the creation of some ultraromantic imagination," said Lady Hastings.

"Such a mundane word as 'housekeeping' probably never enters one's mind in connection with it. Yet keep house I did, while my husband supervised the work outdoors."

The Hastings' had two Chinese and a Polynesian servant.

"The only difficulty about catering was that as the boat crossed from Tahiti only twice a week the commissariat had to be planned a week ahead. One boat took the orders and the next delivered them. From civilized Tahiti I ordered fresh meat on ice, New Zealand butter and canned fruits and vegetables."

Regarding the daily routine Lady Hastings said:

"In that climate, tempered by trade winds from the sea, no afternoon siesta interrupted our round of work and sailing and swimming, excepting in January and February, when the sirocco from the combined effects of heavy rain and heat had to be slept off every afternoon."

1927 "Fairly Good" for Farmers, Says Report

Washington.—Agriculture, as stood up by government experts, had a "fairly good" year in the chief producing regions with the exception of the central and eastern part of the corn and hog region.

The Department of Agriculture in its final report of the agricultural situation for the year said 1927 brought a measure of recovery to the cotton belt, but much of the central and eastern sections of the corn and hog region had a poor crop of corn, which, coupled with a slump in hog prices, left the past season a disappointing one.

"The swine industry," said the department, "was hit last spring by a market slump, especially in the European market, and continued throughout the season on a level of prices somewhat below the two previous years. The other live-stock industries have fared relatively well. All told, 1927 was a year of well balanced production. It brought the price level of farm products just fair up near that of two years ago, which was the highest since 1920.

"The total value of about fifty crops in 1927, based on December 1 prices, is estimated at $8,428,870,000 compared to $7,705,650,000 for the same crops in 1926, an increase of $633,146,000."

West Canada Farmers Plant, 7,500,000 Trees

Indian Head, Sask., Canada.—Nor- e 7,500,000 of deciduous trees seedlings and cuttings were planted in 1927 by 11,000 prairie farmers, thus setting a new mark for tree planting in western Canada.

The development of shelter belts in the Canadian west is being followed to a considerable extent by the setting out of apple and small fruit orchards, gardens of fine vegetables and of shrubs, flower beds and lawns. To insure success in the establishment of shelter belts, helpful control is exercised by the department of interior forest service stations at Sutherland and Indian Head. From spring until the coming of winter each year a corps of field inspectors travel continuously, inspecting proposed new plantations, advising farmers and taking note of the effect of the plantations on the social and economic life of the settler.

In the last 26 years the government has distributed over 95,000,000 trees to farmers in the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Gold Nuggets in Turkey Start Search for Lode

Red Lodge, Mont.—Discovery of gold nuggets in a turkey prepared for Christmas dinner by Mrs. A. Pollard has started prospectors on a search for the mother lode.

Eight nuggets, weighing 30 grams and valued at about $8, were found in the turkey. The fowl was raised on the Paul W. Cartright ranch, two miles from Red Lodge. Red Lodge is in the district where placer miners obtained millions of dollars' worth of dust in pioneer western days.

PEPPERMINT OIL DROPS IN PRICE

Dreams of Wealth Are Shattered by Crops.

South Bend, Ind.—Peppermint oil, once so precious that dealers kept it stored in bank vaults, has built and shattered dreams of wealth in shorter time almost than any other farm crop. Two years ago a pound of it brought almost $30, buyers fought to contract all the growers had and muck fields ranched a premium in Michigan and Indiana.

As quickly as it rose the price decreased. Current sales hover around $2 for a pound, and producers say it costs $2.50 a pound to grow it. This year's crop is a subject of controversy. Buyers declare supplies are plentiful but growers insist production is inadequate. Whatever even there may be is due to long-term contracts, by which far-sighted growers accept for a sliding scale, insured themselves of better prices than the open market brings.

Observers predict increasing demand for oil. In respective order of importance it is used in dentifrices, confections and chewing gum, and in the retail drug trade. Makers of dental cream declare the world is just beginning to brush its teeth, and candy manufacturers report steadily increasing sales.

Generally the mint supply is less than the demand. There are natural restrictions on production. Growers become discouraged when weeds overrun their crop and contaminate the oil so much that it suffers discounts on the markets. Distilling is a problem. Most growers have their own equipment, although custom stills are operated. Private stills do not pay on less than 20 acres of good mint. However, mint production frequently is considered a subsidiary industry, and as one producer drops out another fills his place. While not always as profitable as truck crops adapted to similar land, mint is perhaps more certain. The enormous price reduction has not cut the acreage seriously.

Michigan and Indiana claim 85 per cent of the total mint acreage, with Oregon, Washington and California ranking next in importance.

Red Cross Meets Heavy Demand for Water Safety Duty

Trained life-savers in the United States, qualified by the Red Cross as experts in all phases of water safety, now number 134,542 adults and juniors, according to the Life-Saving Service of the American Red Cross, which reported 32,506 trained and qualified in the past year. This number does not include other thousands who were taught to swim.

Training courses conducted by the Red Cross last summer brought out a uniformly high standard of proficiency. In addition, more than 20 winter training courses were conducted the past year. Swimming "institutes" at camps in Arizona, California, Indiana, Massachusetts, New York, North Carolina, Missouri, Oregon, Washington, and Wisconsin, "splash weeks" and swimming and life-saving campaigns under Red Cross auspices held in many States aroused great interest.

"The experience gained during the last few years indicates that the danger involved in water sports can be eliminated through training and by the adoption of water safety methods," a recent Red Cross report stated. "When our communities provide sufficient swimming pools, safe beaches, and skating places, and furnish trained leaders under whose guidance both adults and children may enjoy themselves in safety, the number of preventable deaths through drowning will be greatly reduced."

The Red Cross is endeavoring to supply trained leaders to water safety so far as its facilities permit. To increase the effectiveness of this and other services, the Eleventh Annual Roll Call, from November 11 to 24, will urge an enrollment of 5,000,000.

Decalogue Revised by Girl for Her Fiance

East Orange, N. J.—With a desire to "make her future husband a better man," Miss Dorothy La Verne Bacher has drawn up a set of commandments which she says will be a joint agreement between the two when they are married.

Miss Bacher, twenty-three, an artist, will announce her engagement to Harold K. Beck of Everett, Mass., and at the same time she will make public the joint contract between the two. Beck, a graduate of Tufts college, is employed in the Washington office of a pump and machinery company. He is twenty-five.

The commandments are:

Thou shalt not covet other men.

Thou shalt not be unfaithful in thought.

Thou shalt not commit murder, even though provoked.

Thou shalt not steal, be you ever so hungry.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against your husband.

Thou shalt not covet your neighbor's husband.

Thou shalt not worship false gods, such as money, fame, power, etc.

Thou shalt not make graven images, such as statues, paintings, etc.

Thou shalt not take the name of the husband in vain.

Thou shalt remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy.

Honor thy husband and thy mother.

Thou shalt not kill.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

Thou shalt not steal.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's husband.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

JESUS MISUNDERSTOOD AND OPPOSED.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 3:19-35; 6:1-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—He came unto his own and his own received him not, but as many as received him to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Friends Misunderstand Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Friends Misunderstand Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Facing Unavoidable Opposition.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Misunderstood Master.

I. Jesus Misunderstood by His Friends (3:19-21).

1. The occasion (vv. 19, 20).

A series of important events in the ministry of Jesus had followed each other in rapid succession. The twelve had been chosen, and He with His disciples had just returned from a trip of preaching and healing in Galilee. Such great interest was aroused that though Jesus was weary and hungry He did not have time to eat. (v. 21). They went out to lay hold on Him. They saw Him giving Himself with absolute abandon to His work so they attempted to rescue Him forcibly by taking Him from His work.

2. What they said (v. 21). "He is beside himself." His passionate devotion to saving the lost seemed to them a kind of insanity.

II. Jesus Opposed by the Scribes (vv. 22-30).

1. Their charge (v. 22). They charged Him with casting out demons by Beelzebub. According to Matthew 12:22-24, the Pharisees joined the scribes in this charge. The occasion which provoked the charge was the healing of a man possessed with a demon. Unable to explain His unwearying service for needy men by attributing His zeal to religious frenzy, they accused Him of being in league with the devil.

2. Christ's reply (vv. 23-27). He exposed their folly by a question and by parables.

(1) "How can Satan cast out Satan?" If after Satan gets control of a man he should voluntarily relinquish that hold he would thus become his own enemy. In view of the nature of the devil, this is unthinkable.

(2) "If a kingdom be divided against itself that kingdom cannot stand (v. 24). Civil war is national suicide. A living example of this folly is seen in China today.

(3) If a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand (v. 25). House here means family. The family that wars against itself will surely perish.

(4) No man can enter into a strong man's house and spoil his goods except he first bind the strong man (v. 27). Satan here is the strong man, the house is the world, the goods of the house are the human beings whose welfare and happiness Satan is seeking to destroy.

3. Christ's charge (vv. 28-30).

Since He was doing the works of God (for before their eyes He had cast out a devil and driven the demon from the man) He was undoing the works of the devil. He went about doing good. Wherever He went men were blessed. The eyes of the blind were opened, the ears were unstopped, the lame were made to walk and the dead were raised. Having with unanswerable logic met their accusations He charged home upon them most awful guilt, that of blasphemy against the Holy Ghost. Blasphemy against the Holy Ghost is attributing the works of the Spirit to the devil. For this great sin there is no pardon.

III. Jesus Misunderstood by His Family (vv. 31-35).

His brothers and mother came with the object of getting Him home because they thought He had lost His reason. Of course His brothers did not believe on Him as the Messiah, but their filial interest moved them to try to get Him home. No doubt this was most painful to Jesus. Their motive may have been right, but they were used of the devil to hinder Him.

IV. Jesus Misunderstood by His Fellow Townsmen (6:1-6).

The citizens of Nazareth were unable to question the reality of Christ's work and the power of His words, but because He was one of them they were offended at Him. This is a marvelous example of the blinding effects of prejudice. Because of this attitude of soul on the part of the people His wonder working was very limited among them. And He marveled because of their unbelief.

Vanity

Vanity of vanities saith the preacher all is vanity. And moreover, because the preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yea, he gave good heed, and sought out, and set in order many proverbs.—Ecclesiastes 12:8-9.

VERA

We are having a rough spell of weather now, the snow is fine on grass and all grain crops, but is bad on travelers.

Mr. Watkins Abbitt, of Richmond, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Abbitt.

A big dance at Mr. Whorley's Friday night and all had a good time.

The severe wind storm that we had recently did cosiderable damage and lots of people are putting on roofing.

Mrs. C. L. Coleman has been sick, but am glad to report she is improving at this writing.

The W.M.U. of Liberty Chapel met at the home of Mrs. Leighton Hatcher. A very good attendance and all enjoyed the meeting very much, after which they had a social hour, Mrs. Hatcher serving refreshments.

We are glad to see Mrs. T. P. Robertson out again after a spell of sickness.

Miss Evelyn O'Brien was the guest of Miss Colyer Abbitt last Thursday night.

We are sorry that the condition of Mr. John Davidson remains about the same and doesn't improve like his friends would like for him to.

This community lost one of its most respectable colored citizens, Ellison Scruggs, on Friday the 20; he was buried Sunday in the presence of a large crowd of both white and colored friends. He will be greatly missed by the white people of this community.

FOREST VIEW

Winter is here! Sure enough. The ground is covered with snow and the clouds look like more snow.

Since writing from this part of the county we have experienced a severe rain and windstorm on last Tuesday night. It just seemed like every minute the tops of houses and dwellings were blown away and some were. Mr. Henry Cyrus while in his barn the top was blown off and tobacco and hay blown away. Fruit trees and trees in the forest were blown down. Mr. Lawrence Hudson had one room of his house torn entirely away from the other part. Much damage was done throughout the county.

There are some parts of our road which are almost impassable and were impassable last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nash gave a birthday party in honor of his sister, Miss Ethel Nash, last Friday night. Music and dancing was enjoyed and near midnight refreshments were served. It being Leap-year the girls took the boys into the dining room which was beautifully decorated. All left wishing Miss Ethel many more happy birthdays. When the crowd was ready to start some of their cars were standing on the road side in one place and some in another, snow was a couple of inches deep and still falling.

We are looking forward to our new Supervisor looking over the road from W. T. Nash's store to E. H Marshall's and we are confident he will remember us in fixing up same.

Mr. J. R. Ford spent several days last week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ford, preparing his tobacco for market. We are always glad to have him back in his old neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woolridge and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Woolridge spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Martin.

Miss Margaret Cheatham visited Miss Eula Cheatham last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Jones have a little girl boarder who will remain with them.

Miss Olive Lewis has resumed her duties at her school after being sick last week.

Several of our people in the neighborhood have marketed tobacco in Lynchburg and received satisfactory prices. We are sorry to have to take it so far.

PAMPLIN

Rev. and Mrs. J. E. White were the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Terry Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Howard Wilson accompanied by Mrs. Rawlins motored to Lawrenceville last week and have not yet returned.

The new store building of J. W. Canady is almost completed. This building is a credit to the town.

Messers. Ernest and Henry Murian, of Hampden Sidney are the guests of Mr. Frank Fitzgerald.

Rev. J. E. White preached to a small but appreciative audience Sunday morning. The weather being so severe that a large audience could not attend.

Mrs. Claudia Moses, of Crewe was the recent guest of Mrs. Lillie Moses.

We are sorry Mrs. E. E. Walker is on the sick list.

Mr. Walter Murphey spent the week-end with his family here.

Mrs. R. R. Davis and daughter, Mrs. Wm. Carr, are both improving. This is good news to their many friends.

The 9-months-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. George Sizemore died Saturday morning of pneumonia. All that loving hands could do was done to stay the young life, which had been such a care. The little one was laid to rest at Piney Ridge Church Sunday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted by their pastor, Rev. J. E. white. We wish to extend our most heartfelt sympathy to those who loved her most.

Oakville

The Oakville Community League will hold its regular meeting Wednesday evening, February the eighth, at 7:30 o'clock in the schoo. building. The English department is giving a program consisting of a debate, Resolved that capital punishment should be abolished; a humorous reading and a one act play, "Jumbo Jum.' Everybody is invited to come and enjoy an hour of real fun.

American Museums Buy Historic Drinking Vessels

Berlin.—The Metropolitan museum of New York and the Chicago Institute of Art have acquired in equal parts what experts claim to be the most important private collection of German, Bohemian and Dutch glass drinking vessels in the world.

Known to connoisseurs as the Jacques Mosbaum collection, it consists of 700 pieces, dating from the Fifteenth century to the middle of the Nineteenth century. Among them are a goblet dedicated to the Dutch painter Jan Steen, and signed 1676; the first known piece of German cut glass of 1622, a unique covered goblet decorated with gold and colors inserted between two layers of glass made in Bohemia in 1730, and a beaker given by Frederick the Great to the French poet Voltaire.

A series of enameled tankards, tumblers and jugs of the highest quality represents the German Renaissance and baroque styles at their best, and German exports are unanimous in saying that this is the choicest collection of its kind in existence.

It was sold by Dr. Hans Werner Mosbaum, son of the collector, to the present American owners for $140,000.

Stolen Art Treasures Worth $150,000 Found

New York.—The recovery of $150,000 worth of art treasures in a trunk in an East side rooming house prompted a hunt recently for other members of a gang of discriminating thieves whose inability to dispose of their works led to a presale candidate robbery and subsequent imprisonment of three of the band.

The recovered art objects, the value of which prevented easy disposal of them, included a gobelin tapestry of rare beauty, a small silver hercules attributed to Benvenuto Cellini, an "Adoration of the Magi," by Mabuse, the various works in jade, gold and bronze.

Giovanni Ricordia, Thomas Murfino and Peter Jones, now serving time in state prisons, are believed to have recited the stolen articles against the time when they could sell them.

Spring Water for City

Royal spring, at Georgetown, Ky., said to be one of the largest of its kind in the world, was named in 1775. The water bursts from a high bluff of limestone rock, flows through the west end of the town and empties into the Elkhorn river, nearly a mile from its source. Georgetown, now with a population of about 5,000, gets its entire water supply from this spring and has done so for many years. At one time a woolen mill, a grist mill and several other establishments were operated by water power supplied by this spring.—Kansas City Star.
